

The UN General Assembly

rules that to safeguard humankind to the most effective degree, the act, committed by the leaders of governments, industry, investment funds or any legal entity, of massively ignoring, boycotting or contravening the UN Climate Agreement of Paris and its measures to decarbonize and to transition the global economy to the use of renewable energy sources as soon as humanly possible, shall be seen and charged as an act of global genocide

and/or a global crime against humanity*
